

There's no managers at work today on the nurses floor. Where the hell are they all?

Oh, they have a two day hearing down at the Employment Relations Authority. Plus Sally from my HR team too. It's totally ok. I even asked I.T. to add a new code in the time tracking software for the "E.R.A."

Two fuckin' days? Why do you keep pulling staff out of work to appear at the Employment Relations Authority? To sing Jacinda's greatest vax hits of 2021? Are you insane? Are they singing your bullshit in a barbershop quartet down there now? You do know, that there's no "divine right" of an HR policy, RIGHT?
